
Facilitation & Planning

Is this for me?

Agencies, businesses, non-profit organizations, boards, schools, colleges, teams, departments

Your Next Step

To request facilitation or to find out more Contact Us
Resources

Resources on Workplace

Conflict and Meetings

We'll do the "driving" so you can get some work done

Facilitation is a process in which an impartial third-party, a facilitator, helps a group of people reach agreement or make important decisions, usually by consensus. Using skilled facilitators is a great way to ensure that your important or potentially difficult meetings are effective. MFR can help with a range of meetings including planning retreats or meetings and conferences where groups need to work together to create plans or make decisions.

How we can help

- Help with the planning of your meeting or event
- Keep meetings on track
- Coordinate a written account
- Run meetings smoothly so you can fully participate
- Serve as an observer of the meeting and share perceptions
- Deal productively with any conflicts and help people participate in an effective way
- Provide coaching to you or your groups to improve the quality of all of your meetings
- Help you design and carry out planning retreats or other events
- We can work with you "soup to nuts"; - from planning to follow-up or we can supply you with skilled group leadership only when you need it.

Why use a Professional Facilitator?

- Provides you with expert advice, support and an impartial perspective
- Allows you to relax about the details and fully participate in the meeting
- Hands over management of difficult situations or people to a neutral person
- Makes it easier to raise difficult topics and to discuss them in a constructive way
- Increases the productivity of your meetings thus saving time and money
- Improves your reputation for holding meetings that people want to attend

-
How we work with you

When you call for your free consultation we will:

- Listen to you and work to identify your concerns ideas and goals
- Discuss meeting design options that best suit your needs
- Identify the overall logistics of the meeting or event
- Follow up quickly with a written proposal

Why MFR?

Our expert facilitators have worked for years with groups and organizations using a hands-on method that builds on the existing culture and talent to produce meetings that are memorable, often fun, and those that achieve results.

Cost: Visit the Facilitation section at Professional Fees